Stucky Named New KHS Head Boys' Hoops Coach

BY BOB MORRIS

Managing Editor

Terry Stucky has been named the new Kingman High School head boy's basketball coach.

Stucky is currently the head coach of the Kansas Twisters, a minor league professional basketball team which plays its games from late April to the end of June.

Stucky said he plans to continue coaching the pro team along with the Eagles, given that their seasons will not overlap. There may be some practices in March that could overlap, which Stucky admitted will be "challenging" but he plans to make it work.

Prior to coaching the Twisters, Stucky served as an assistant, then a head coach, for another minor league pro team, the Wichita Wizards. He also coached high school ball at Fairfield for four years.

Before that, he had coached for many years in youth recreational leagues and did radio play by play for basketball games.

As for what interested him in the Kingman job, Stucky said he hadn't thought about getting back into it at first, but he does farming in Pretty Prairie and owns an ag body shop. He said he didn't know how much longer he would continue to do work like that, so his thoughts turned back to high school coaching.

Stucky said he talked to administration not only about the Kingman job, but another job as well. But he decided to go with Kingman because it was close to home and saw it as a good opportunity.

"Kingman is a job I had thought about for years," Stucky said, but in the past, things didn't fall into place. Not only is it close to Pretty Prairie, he said, but it's a Class 3A school which means a small-school environment but with a good number of athletes.

"I guess it was a sign of the times, so I went with it," Stucky said.

He has already met with some of the players and said that they seem like good players. He noted the Eagles will be young, with three seniors, a couple of juniors and sophomores, and a lot of freshmen.

"They seem like they are a good group of hard-working kids," Stucky said, adding that in his conversations with them, they appear to be a focused group of athletes.

"I looked at their focus and, when you talk to them, these guys are dialed in," he said.

The Eagles have already participated in a summer league based in Haven, under the guidance of assistant coach Mike Albright. Stucky

Deel Takes Over as KHS Head Girl's Basketball Coach

BY BOB MORRIS

Managing Editor

Jason Deel will take over as head coach of the Kingman High School girl's basketball team.

Deel works in Pretty Prairie but wanted to get back into coaching. He was the head boy's basketball coach at Stafford for six years and an assistant coach at Pratt Skyline for one season. Deel then had coaching stints at Neosha County Community College and at Pratt Community College.

Deel said his desire to get back into coaching drew his interest in the Lady Eagles head coaching job.

"I hadn't been coaching for a couple of years and the opportunity I was offered was close to home," he said.

Deel said he felt fortunate to get the job and he appreciated Athletic Director Rollie Van Wyhe and the USD 331 Board of Education for giving him the opportunity.

He has already with met the players, with a couple of meetings and a number of summer workouts. He plans to hold a basketball camp next week.

"It seems like we have some decent athletes," Deel said. "We have girls who want to compete and girls who are ready to work."

Deel said there are some players already in the program who should play key roles, though a couple are recovering from injuries. But he likes where the players are at as athletes and there's a lot to build upon.

He said he will need to implement a system that he thinks will work best with the current players but he believes the girls have what it takes to be successful.

"They've got to put in the work but they are willing," Deel said. "The future looks bright for Kingman girl's basketball."

The Lady Eagles finished the 2023-24 season with a 4-17 overall record and graduated four seniors.
